THE PREMIER FORUM FOR CLINICAL NUTRITION RESEARCH AND EDUCATION

The ASPEN 2020 Nutrition Science & Practice Conference (ASPEN20) is an exceptional, interdisciplinary learning and networking forum for clinicians and researchers who recognize that nutrition is a key ingredient in successful patient outcomes.

ASPEN20 addresses current issues and obstacles that you face daily in clinical practice. It introduces you to new clinical nutrition research, challenges you to think differently, and provides you with evidence-based, best-practice recommendations. At ASPEN20 you will:

• Sharpen your skills with intense, full-day or half-day pre-conference courses.
• Be updated on the latest evidence-based nutrition practices in education and research sessions.
• Learn about new research presented at the Premier Paper Session and Harry M. Vars Research Award Competition, the Dudrick Research Symposium, Nutrition and Metabolism Research Paper Sessions, Rapid Fire Research Presentations, and Poster Presentations.
• Collaborate with colleagues from around the world at complimentary networking lunches.
• Hear from experts presenting new product technology and science at Central Stage in the ASPEN Expo.

ASPEN20 allows you to customize your conference experience. Whether you’re in Florida for the entire conference or just one day, you can create a schedule that suits your needs. We offer pre-conference courses, full conference registration, daily registration, and virtual conference registration.

Whatever your experience, you’ll leave ASPEN20 with new knowledge and skills that will help you succeed.

ASPEN EXPO: BRINGING TOGETHER RESEARCH, TECHNOLOGY, AND INNOVATION

The ASPEN Expo is the largest exhibition of industry leaders in clinical nutrition featuring 70+ companies with a wide range of products and services. It’s an excellent in-person forum where you can keep current on the newest research and evolution in product innovation, meet with companies that directly impact the way you provide patient care, and network with colleagues.

The Role of Micronutrients in Outcome and Recovery After Critical Illness (T10)

ASPEN is honored to award the 2020 Rhoads Research Lecture to Mette Berger, MD, PhD, from the Lausanne University Hospital, Lausanne, Switzerland. Dr. Berger is a world-renowned professor and researcher in the field of nutrition and metabolism in critically ill patients. CONFERENCE GOALS AND TARGET AUDIENCE
The ASPEN Nutrition Science & Practice Conference is designed for dietitians, nurses, physicians, pharmacists, researchers, and others who practice the sciences of clinical nutrition and metabolism. The conference provides nutrition support professionals with current and cutting-edge information in the fields of nutrition support, clinical nutrition, and metabolism.

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES
Upon conclusion of the conference, conference participants will be able to:
• Challenge current clinical practices
• Integrate evidence-based updates into practice
• Reflect on the implications of current research
• Identify gaps in knowledge that require further education and training

LEARNING LEVELS
To assist in selecting sessions that are most appropriate for you, each session will be identified by learning level on the ASPEN website at www.nutritioncare.org/conference2020:

BASIC: Assumes little or no prior knowledge of areas covered. The basic session is aimed toward individuals building a foundation for competent practice. This correlates to CDR level 1.

INTERMEDIATE: Assumes a general knowledge of the literature and clinical practice within the areas covered. Intermediate sessions are aimed toward individuals wishing to expand their skills and knowledge base. This correlates to CDR level 2.

ADVANCED: Assumes thorough knowledge of the literature and clinical practice within the areas covered. Advanced sessions are aimed toward individuals seeking a synthesis of recent advances and future directions. This correlates to CDR level 3.

SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION
ASPEN provides CE credit to physicians, nurses, pharmacists, and dietitians who attend in full each session claimed for credit and complete the conference evaluation process within the electronic CE system in ASPEN’s eLearning Center, www.nutritioncare.org/elearning. Registered conference participants will need to login using their ASPEN credentials to gain access to the conference evaluations in the eLearning Center.

INTERNATIONAL PARTICIPANTS
Participant feedback is essential in the continued improvement of ASPEN’s educational programs, including the annual conference. International participants are encouraged to use the electronic CE system to submit evaluations for the sessions attended and the overall conference.
