State of South Carolina

Governor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, leading health and nutrition experts agree that nutrition status is a direct measure of patient health and that good nutrition can help keep people healthy and out of institutionalized healthcare facilities, thus reducing healthcare costs; and

WHEREAS, malnutrition is a condition that can occur in adult patients lacking adequate calories, protein, or other nutrients necessary for tissue maintenance and repair and in infants or children suffering an imbalance between nutrient requirement and intake, resulting in cumulative deficits of energy, protein, or micronutrients that could negatively affect growth, development, or other relative outcomes; and

WHEREAS, illness, injury, and malnutrition can result in the loss of lean body mass, leading to complications that can impact good patient outcomes, including from surgery, illness, or disease; and

WHEREAS, malnutrition is particularly prevalent in vulnerable populations, including older adults, hospitalized patients, and minorities, that statistically experience the highest incidence of severe chronic illnesses such as diabetes, kidney disease, and cardiovascular diseases; and

WHEREAS, therapeutic nutrition is the administration of food and fluids to support the metabolic processes of a patient who is malnourished or at high risk of becoming malnourished and can play an essential role in restoring lean body mass, resolving malnutrition challenges, improving clinical outcomes, reducing healthcare costs, and promoting good health.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Henry McMaster, Governor of the great State of South Carolina, do hereby proclaim October 4 - 8, 2021, as throughout the state and encourage all South Carolinians to learn more about the importance of proper nutrition to the health and well-being of people in the Palmetto State.
