MALNUTRITION AWARENESS WEEK

WHEREAS: Inadequate or unbalanced nutrition, known as malnutrition, is prevalent in many groups, including vulnerable populations such as hospitalized patients and minority populations, with older adults having the highest rate of malnutrition compared to other groups; and

WHEREAS: Illness, injury, and malnutrition can result in the loss of lean body mass, leading to complications that impact good patient health outcomes including recovery from surgery, illness, or disease; and

WHEREAS: Malnutrition is a major factor in hospitalized readmissions, cost, and mortality, but screening, assessment, diagnosis, and interventions can help reduce malnutrition; and

WHEREAS: Malnutrition Awareness Week aims to educate healthcare professionals, caregivers, patients, and the general public on the negative consequences of malnutrition; and

WHEREAS: Increased awareness of the risks and results of this disease will in turn decrease the prevalence of malnutrition across the country and beyond; now
